Description

Beneath the dungeons of London town the eclectic is brewing. A new electronic approach to seep into the makings of gritty underground music and trouble will that soon fill the walls and ears of innocent bypassers. Born to mischief in Israel with the odd stop by Hungary and Moroccco, Ido Tavori brings us fresh block-stomping blip-hop, inspired beats woven together with the occasional seasoning of quirky lyricism. Beginning his musical odyssey at an early age, Ido took his guitar and drum machine during his mission for discovering the right blend of ingredients: ambience, oldies, hip-hop, lo-fi and the mind-expanding realms of the experimental. Ido crafts each song with the insight of a trained audio engineer, making sure that all production remains in tune with the path he follows. If you are ready for the predictable music characteristic of the noughties, please pack your bags and exit stage left. For the followers of the groove, please step right up with best ear and foot forward. Diverse rhythms will entertain the space between your ears, with each song delicately woven by lashing of the organic analogue sound and sublime energy of our digital age.

"It's impossible not to find yourself drawn into the groove."
