SELLING POINTS:

- Dee Dee Ramone (Did we need to put Ramones in parentheses? or the Spikey Tops? ...don't forget The Chinese Dragons)
- Paul "ENA" Kostabi (If he liked you, he'd tell you about when he was in Psychotica and White Zombie)
- Barbara Zampini (Also played with The Rmainz)
- Extensive press and college radio mailing. In-Store Promos available upon request. Youth Gone Mad is on tour in the U.S. now, and will continue throughout much of 2003.
- This is the last known studio recording that Dee Dee Ramone performed on prior his death.

When two friends get together to do some painting, you don't usually expect them to record an album. Unless those friends happen to be Dee Dee Ramone and Youth Gone Mad frontman Paul Kostabi. After doing some shows, both art and music, the two started recording songs together in New York. This collaboration was Dee Dee's last studio project before his recent death.

Well, somebody must like you, because now you get the chance to hear the music and see some of their artwork, on beautiful twelve-inch picture vinyl (don't worry, non-analogists, the CD booklet is a fold-out mini-poster of one of Paul & Dee Dee's paintings).

This album is a mix of zany, high-energy punk tunes and classic Ramones song structures. The band serves up a few American standards, like "Twist & Shout" and "Blitzkrieg Bop," along with some songs Dee Dee wrote which had never been released in the U.S.

Fenton Lawless pops in to give Dee Dee an honest, punk rock farewell, before the record ends with a raw rendition of Leadbelly's "In The Pines."
